

'Friends' Actress Offers L.A. Home

"Friends" supporting actress Jane Sibbett has placed her Los Angeles-area home on the market for $7 million. Ms. Sibbett, who played Ross's lesbian ex-wife, Carol, on the sitcom, is in contract to purchase a farm in Hawaii for about $2 million.

Nine years ago, Ms. Sibbett, now 44, and her husband, writer and producer Karl Fink, 48, bought the 17-acre property in Topanga,

Calif., about 10 miles from Santa Monica. (Ms. Sibbett and Mr. Fink worked together on a '90s sitcom, "Herman's Head.")

Jane Sibbett

They rebuilt the approximately 6,400-square-foot house in 2005, a year after "Friends" went off the air. The four-bedroom home has 360-degree views and a six-horse stable. The owners based the design on the golden ratio, a mathematical proportion considered aesthetically pleasing. Ms. Sibbett also had short blessings like "peace" and "fun" hidden within the home's walls. Jaime Estes of Amalfi Estates has the listing.