

Marguleas Team Donates to Pali Elementary

By JACQUELINE PRIMO
Assistant Managing Editor

On Wednesday, April 6, Anthony Marguleas, broker/owner of Amalfi Estates, and Cody Carras, donated $9,000 to Palisades Charter Elementary School.

“We always donate 10 percent of our commission to a local organization or charity. We let the client choose which one it will be,” said Carras, sales partner with the Marguleas Team who worked with the new homeowner Montana Curtis.

“We represented the client who moved here from out of town who has an 11-month-old baby,” Carras told the Palisadian-Post. “She figured one day her son is going to go to Pali Elementary.”

The donation will be used to help Pali Elementary fund a full-time librarian next school year, according to school principal Joan Ingle.

“We have limped along with one [librarian] every other week and the kids have really suf-

Cody Carras (holding check) and Anthony Marguleas present a $9,000 donation, representing 10 percent of a recent real estate transaction commission, to Pali Elementary’s Amy Lally (left) and Diana Monaco.

Rich Schmitt/Staff Photographer

ferred,” Ingle told the Post.

“Next year we are looking forward to having our library open every day.”